If there is anything we learnt last week, it is that the Spirit led life lives the life of God to the extent that nothing is impossible with him (Mt. 19:26). And why not! The leading of the Spirit makes us to walk and achieve as God (Mt. 17:20).

When the bible declares us to be gods, it is actually saying that it is possible to achieve whatsoever God has said concerning us and beyond that, we at liberty to establish our desires and purposes (Isa. 45:11; Pr. 23:18). Having therefore these assurances, we ought to have the attitude of God in anticipating the fulfillment of your expectation (Gen. 1:26). Consequently, we can be rest assured that we shall have whatsoever we ask of God (Mt. 21:22).

In all of this, we ought to live as God. Jesus was so different from the men of his generation that they wondered at his ways (Mt. 7:28-29). The difference that he exhibited was a result of his understanding, appreciation, acceptance, and internalization of the mind of God (Dan. 11:32). Religion which is what the Jews knew before Jesus came is not enough to bring men into their inheritance (Heb. 4:2). We should therefore live as those who have received His Spirit (Rom. 5:17).
